so sore from an alergy to solutions we use at work that I Could Hardly Write - They are Better now. But I still neglect to Write letters. Nancy Manley a descendent of John Wasnich family - by Marriage - has tried to trace the family History and I have tried to help her. I sent my records up to her to Copy - then she Wrote to a Catholic Priest in st Wendel Germany and he sent her several Papers one was in Latin - the Birth Certificate of Rev Wendel. his Parents were Catholic - It gives their names and the spelling of the Wasnich name. Joannis Wahsenich and ~~Cattarenae~~ catharenae Bernhart. who lived in st Wendel.

the Priest also sent nancy the Birth record of Philippena Marie Bauer (wife of Rev Wendel Wasnich -) her Parents were John abraham Bauer and Philippena Marie Pauly of Grumbach.

There were two other Papers that are so Blurred we cannot find anyone who can read or translate them.

I have Copied these Papers Nancy

Dear Roena.

I didn't have a Chance to say a 'Thank you Very much for all the trouble you went thru to get those Papers read', and I do appreciate it so much!

Sunday was just such a Hectic day - we've had so many bad days since Jerry is ill. hes the one we all like and depend on so - hes been such a good kid. and it just tears us up to see him so Ill. and know after all this Pain he may never Walk again - or want to live in the Condition he will be in - Its just so unfair to happen to him.

Im sorry I didn't have orpha take you to the Reunion and meet that Part of the family. Tell you what - Ill send you a Card next year and hope you can Come! I just had to have you Come see me this year - and then I was a Bum Hostess - didn't even give you a cup of Coffee -

But I think you understood what we have been thru with Jerry. I had the little Boy untill eight on saturday so I Couldn't even Clean my house - well you saw me at my worst - I hope you still like me. Ha.

If you Plan to Come up to orphas Ill have her ask Margaret Clark if she Could get the Wasnich Bible long enough to take a Picture of the Page of Family Record.

I think Margaret has more strings to Pull to Borrow it than I do. since she was with that family a lot.

Its the sister of the Roena you asked about. that has the Bible.

Now Ill Copy your Paper on the Bowers and send it and also another letter Nancy said she Copied word for word for me about the Bowrs that she got first -

(one of your Papers said Johann
Wasnich But Nancy calls it Joannes so you will Probably see it both ways in mine Ha.)

I sent the Paper with you she got back from archiv der Evangelischen
Kirche im Rheinland.
But she didnt get it translated —
I took it to the Library to a
German lady and she said
Roughly it says

(as Nancy said from Nancy

Dear Mrs Manley

In the state archives I found a file in which exists a description of the imigration of the Bricklayer Johann Abraham Bauer in the year 1834, You Can read there that Johann had three Brothers Peter, Carl, Friedrick. his Parents were Friederick and Henriette Bauer, her maiden name was Kreischer. The Brother Karl joined the French army in 1812

In this file doesn't exist a Birth or Marriage cirtificate. If you want to find out exact dates of these Persons you have to write to Bistumarchiv, 55 Trier, Jesuitenstr 13 (for the Catholic Church register) or to the archivstelle Koblenz des archives der Evangelischen Kirche in Rhinland, 54 Koblenz, Karmliterstr 1/3 (for the Protestant church register.

PS.
we ought to get someone started on Putting Rev Wendels death date on his stone. Its really a shame no one has got it on there

I havent found anyone who knew the Pictures yet.

I wiped the smoke off the one in the Bible. still think it may be a Great great Uncle - one of Rev wendels Brothers Perhaps the Brother Joseph of Rev Wendel

somewhere Ive got to find that large family grandad Wasnick mentioned. the number 17 still sticks in my mind.

[Of Course Rev wendel might have had other Children that died (13 + 4 would be 17) they Could easily have lost them and not kept a record)

no I'm sure
I think he is Buried at Floral Grove.
he died aug 18 1891 at the Home of John.
John Died sept 2 1891 14 days later
now my Grandad samuel lived right Behind the Floral Grove Cemetery at that time - the first road. They would have insisted he be buried there.
Since his Stone is there too and their son samuel Walter was Buried on Rev wendels lot sept 18 1892 a year later.. Dad always liked his Grandad.
He was 19 when he died.

John was Buried with his wife at Beaver creek - right beside my Great Grandad
Nicholas Daso and Margaret and Ive been all over that cemetery. Im sure he was not Buried where John was. -

It was warm weather aug 18 and not far to go from johns house to the Floral Grove - and with sam living near.

(my Grandad)
Im sure Ive heard Dad say he was Buried at Floral Grove. and George Bought a lot there. Hollingtons are Buried there and have such a large stone and when Hollington was buried Im sure dad said - Its not far from where my Grandad is Buried and then once he went down and "streightened up Grandads stone"
Dad was 19 when Grandad died and remembered him-often talked about him.

I think Its like nancy said no one thought to Put the date on. since he lived with John I suppose the rest just left it up to them and with John dying 14 days later it just got forgotten.

Rev Wendels wife} died Mar 11 1879
Johns wife Died } march 14 1879
3 days apart.

isnt that odd} John & his Dad 14 days apart

Well how about it Roena. Ill Pay my share if nancy and you want to take it up to have the Date done on the stone But Im not sure we can interest more than just the three of us. and I guess the Price has gone up. especially since theres no Place Close that does it. I had to have Pioneer do dads or rather mothers and I think it was 55 just for the month day " " 1964 and year in 64. everything has doubled or tripled since then Ha.

well see if what you get read on that Paper is the same as I got. That twin Business Could be wrong let me know when you Can Come up Ill try to line our Pictures up for you - try to get the Bible and also try to get minnie Kemmels Book Hunted up to find the Brother Josephs daughters.

sorry this letter is a mess. Im going to send it anyway. Hope you Can make sense out of it.

sure was Glad you stopped. at least you met my Brother Chris. my Plans to live up there didnt work-.

since I Cant drive its better for me here in Toledo anyway Im more independent. and I guess Ive lived on my own too long to have People want me around Ha. (~~Bossy~~ old Maid) that's me.

Well - Bed time -
Good Night and Pleasant Dreams.

love
Minnie.

Dear Mrs Manley,

In the State Archives I found a file, in which exists a description of the emigation of the bricklayer Johann braham Bauer in the year 1834. You an read there, that Johann had three brothers – Peter, Carl, Friedrick. His parents were Friederick & Henriette Bauer, hir maiden name was Kreuscher. The brother Carl joined the French army in 1812. In this file, doesn't Exist a birth or marriage (marige)-certificate. If you want to find out exact dates of these persons, you have to write to Bistumsarchiv, 55 Trier, Jesuitenstr. 3 (for the catholic church registers) or to the Archivstelle Koblenz des Archivs r Evangelischen Kirche im Rheinland, 4 Koblenz, Karmeliterstr. 1/3 (for the rotestant church registers.

dear Mrs Manley,

In the State Archives I found a file, in which exists a discription of the emigration of the bricklayer Johann Abraham Bauer in the year 1834. You can read there, that Johann had three brothers — Peter, Carl, Friedrick. His parents were Friederick & Henriette Bauer, her maiden name was Kreuscher. The brother Carl joined the French army in 1812. In this file, doesn't exist a birth or marriage (marige)-certificate. If you want to find out exact dates of these persons, you have to write to Bistumsarchiv, 55 Trier, Jesuitenstr. 13 (for the catholic church registers) or to the Archivstelle Koblenz des Archivs der Evangelischen Kirche im Rheinland, 54 Koblenz, Karmeliterstr. 1/3 (for the protestant church registers.

Sincerely,
Bucher

Sehr geehrte Familie Manley,

Ihr Brief vom 18.II.76 wurde uns vom Bistumsarchiv Trier zuständigheitshalber zugesandt. Wir besitzen die ev.Kirchenbücher von Grumbach von 1761-1798. Alle Daten, die nach 1798 liegen,müssen Sie bei dem ev.Pfarramt 6759 Grumbach/Glan oder dem Standesamt Grumbach erfragen. Aus dem uns vorliegenden Kirchenbuch Grumbach haben wir zu Ihrer Anfragen folgende Ergebnisse gefunden:Friedrich Bauer, der Vater von Johann Abraham, stammt nicht von Grumbach, sondern kam als Soldatenwerber nach dort.(Der Familienname Bauer ist auch i anderen Kirchenbüchern häufig:

Friedrich Bauer ⚭ am 13.III.1792 Henriette Greicher aus Grumbach.
Er ist Werbe-Unteroffizier. Kinder des Ehepaares:
21.XI.1792 Peter Karl und Georg Carl Christian (Zwillinge)
11.IX.1794 Johann Abraham (Vater ist kaiserlicher Werber)
4.V.1797 Friedrich Theodor(Vater:kaiserlicher Werbeoffizier)
Henriette Greicher: * 18.VIII.1771
Eltern:Carl Greucher und Maria Elisabeth N.N. Sie haben Zwillinge:
18.VIII.1771 Georg Friedrich und Henrietta Christina.

Mehr enthält unser Kirchenbuch von Grumbach nichts zu Ihrer Anfrage. Falls Sie von den einzelnen Eintragungen die Urkunden wünschen, so könen sie für je 2,ooDM pro Urkunde erhalten.

Mit freundl.Gruß

P.S.Wegen der Karte von Deutschland wenden Sie sich am besten an di Amerikanische Botschaft in Bonn.

Tradition Since 8th Century

Xmas tree originated in Germany —

Germans Shun Ersatz Christmas Trees

Custom Demands Real Tannenbaum

BONN, Germany, Dec. 16 (AP) "O Tannenbaum" is not going plastic in Germany.

This country is staying true to traditions.

The holiday symbol originated here. In the Eighth Century St. Boniface dedicated the tannenbaum (fir tree) to the Christ Child. He wanted a symbol to help win over the pagan Germans to Christianity. They were used to worshipping the oak, sacred to the Teutonic god Woden.

The new symbol caught on, becoming a cherished part of German life.

This year more than 15 million Christmas trees will glow in West German homes. They will all be natural trees, cut in snow-covered woods, hauled out to market on horse-drawn sleds.

No Substitutes

Plastic substitutes, now taking over a share of U.S. sales, are unknown.

Real candles will burn in most homes. The few families who have gone over to electric lights buy one color — plain white. Colored lights are considered in bad taste.

The public also wants traditionalism in prices. In other words, no increases. The feeling is that this is a special trade, affecting the national way of life, and no undue profits should be made out of it.

The Forest Owners' Association holds the price steady at 25 cents a meter (a little over a yard). The dealers take a moderate markup. An average-sized tree costs the buyer no more than 75 cents to $1.25 on the lot.

Hidden Till Eve

Vati and Mutti (Dad and Mom) don't rush right home and set up the tree. They hide it—cellar, attic, closet—until Christmas eve. Then, while the children are put in another room or taken for a walk, it is brought out and decorated.

The great moment comes, the door is thrown open, the children run in and see this wonder—the big tree burning bright wtih white candles.

The story Catholic parents tell is that the Christ Child and angels achieved this wonder. In Protestant homes the children are told it was the Weihnachtsmann (Christmas man, like Santa Claus). With the tree alight, presents are opened and the family sings carols. A great favorite is, of course, "O Tannenbaum."

- O TANNENBAUM -

- English -

O Christmas Tree , O Christmas Tree,
Forever true your color !
Your boughs so green in Summer time,
Stay bravely green in winter time,
O Christmas Tree , O Christmas Tree,
Forever true your color.

O Christmas Tree , O Christmas Tree,
You fill my heart with music.
reminding me on Christmas day,
to think of you and then be gay,
O Christmas Tree , O Christmas tree,
you fill my heart with music.

- German -

O Tannenbaum , O Tannenbaum,
Wie treu sind deine Blätter !
Du grünst nicht nur zur Sommerzeit,
doch auch im Winter, wenn es schneit.
O Tannenbaum, O Tannenbaum,
Wie treu sind deine Blätter !

O Tannenbaum, O Tannenbaum,
du kannst mir sehr gefallen;
Wie oft hat nicht zur Weihnachtszeit ein Baum von dir mich hoch erfreut.!
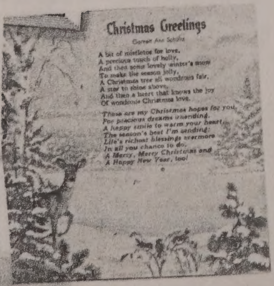
O Tannenbaum, O Tannenbaum,
du kannst mir sehr gefallen.



Christmas Greetings

Garnett Ann Schultz

A bit of mistletoe for love,
A precious touch of holly,
And then some lovely winter's snow
To make the season jolly,
A Christmas tree all wondrous fair,
A star to shine above,
And then a heart that knows the joy
Of wondrous Christmas love.

These are my Christmas hopes for you,
For precious dreams unending,
A happy smile to warm your heart,
The season's best I'm sending;
Life's richest blessings evermore
In all you chance to do,
A Merry, Merry Christmas and
A Happy New Year, too!

Sehr geehrte Familie Manley,

Ihr Brief vom 18.II.76 wurde uns vom Bistumsarchiv Trier zuständigheitshalber zugesandt. Wir besitzen die ev.Kirchenbücher von Grumbach von 1761-1798. Alle Daten, die nach 1798 liegen, müssen Sie bei dem ev.Pfarramt 6759 Grumbach/Glan oder dem Standesamt Grumbach erfragen. Aus dem uns vorliegenden Kirchenbuch Grumbach haben wir zu Ihrer Anfragen folgende Ergebnisse gefunden: Friedrich Bauer, der Vater von Johann Abraham, stammt nicht von Grumbach, sondern kam als Soldatenwerber nach dort. (Der Familienname Bauer ist auch i anderen Kirchenbüchern häufig:

Friedrich Bauer ⚭ am 13.III.1792 Henriette Greicher aus Grumbach.
Er ist Werbe-Unteroffizier. Kinder des Ehepaares:

Dear Mrs. Manley

In the State Archives I found a file, in which exists a description of the emigration of the bricklayer Johann Abraham Bauer in the year 1834. You can read there, that Johann had three brothers — Peter, Carl, Friedrich. His parents were Friederich & Henriette Bauer, her maiden name was Kreuscher. The brother Carl joined the French army in 1812. In this file, doesn't Exist a birth or marriage (marige)-certificate. If you want to find out exact dates of these persons, you have to write to Bistumsarchiv, 55 Trier, Jesuitenstr. 3 (for the catholic church registers) or to the Archivstelle Koblenz des Archivs der Evangelischen Kirche im Rheinland, 4 Koblenz, Karmeliterstr. 1/3 (for the protestant church registers.

Sincerely,
Bucher

 Pennsylvania Dutch ******
History of Richland Co. Ohio -----Vol . I ---Baughman

Germans came to America in early 18th century.
Thousands settled in Pennsylvania --Descendents are known as Pennsylvania Dutch

Germans are a branch of the great Aryan Family --early distinguished from southern races by Robust frame , great daring ,love of home , honor and respect for their women, sense of honor which led to sacrifice their life rather than their word .

Heidelberg and Munich ---- much like western prairie---absence of timber except fruit trees and cultivated shade trees.---no fences.--few hedges. the farmers live in villages. they plant in narrow strips 20 to 100 ft. wide 50 to 300 yd. long (a strip of wheat, a strip oats, corn , potatoes , and plowed ground)

Spurs of the Alps in the distance like columes supporting the sky. It is difficult to fin finer or more varied scenery than along banks of the Rhine from Coblentz to Bengen.

Every foot of Germany utilized-- hence peoples desire to come to America.

The country along the Rhine known as the Garden of Germany .

The University of Heidleburg one of the most influentiel seats of learning of Europe.

The Wasnichs came from St. Wendel Germany ---- which is near the Rhine and Heidleburg.
the above is a description of the land now ----- [This land was once known as the Palatinate -- where Louis xiv. once burned and laid waste to the land so nothing grew for a while.]

The Eberly's also came from here ----but born in Switzerland
(Palatinate in 1727)

The regularly ordained ministers of Luthern Reformed Churches were men of education. as that was a necessary qualification of Germany for those who entered the ministery.

The A in Pennsylvania German pronounced like English Aw .
ch usually becomes K in sound.

EXPLANATION OF THE SOURCE

EMIGRATION FROM BADEN

Source F1 to F9

With the permission of the General Lands Archive in Karlsruhe, the collection of emigrants to America and other countries in the 18th, 19th, and 20th centuries were sorted out. Only the 18th and 19th century emigrations to America were extracted for this particular book.

This collection was not in alphabetical order and, therefore, was very difficult to use in its original format. By alphabetizing and organizing the emigrant names, the genealogist now has full and easy access to this most valuable material. Plans to continue with a second volume are underway.

This material has been microfilmed by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

BRO. HENRY J. WASSENICH OCTOBER 26, 1945

Bro. Henry was born in Dayton, Ohio, on May 4, 1883. He was baptized at St. Mary's Church in that city and was confirmed at St. Mary's Institute, Dayton. On July 9, 1897, he entered the postulate at Dayton and made his first profession of religious vows on December 8, 1900. He made his perpetual profession on August 4, 1908.

At his death Bro. Henry was in the 63rd year of age and 45th year of religious profession. His first teaching assignment was to St. Michael's in Chicago, in the year 1900. From there he was sent to Cleveland and then to Pittsburgh. He was next appointed as treasurer and general purchasing agent at St. Mary's Academy in San Antonio, Texas. Following his work there he held a similar position at Spalding Institute, Peoria, Illinois. Bro. Henry was next appointed Director and Principal at SS. Peter and Paul School in St. Louis, MO. He has served as treasurer at McBride High School, St. Louis, and for his last appointment, as commercial teacher at St. Michael Central High School, Chicago. Only five years more and Bro. Henry would have celebrated his golden jubilee as a member of the Society of Mary. He was a fourth degree member of the Knights of Columbus, belonging to the San Antonio Chapter. Because of his many business contacts, he had many friends in Chicago, St. Louis, and Texas. He is particularly well-known to publishers of educational textbooks.

Hi Roena:

Was as oops usual so glad to hear from you, you are sure a go go girl and I admire you.

The sad part of our genealogy book is that we lost Diane Katch on July 26, 2003. Diane was the daughter of Mildred Ashpaugh. I will sure miss her letter writing, pictures and genealogy help, she was great. By the way, in my Bayes genealogy book I have a picture of you Mildred and Eme Bayes you ~~look~~ oops looked great

When we first moved out here from Mi. we stayed with Tokie and Hazel Bayes for a few days. They had a son Billie who still lives here in Alb.

In my Mom's genealogy book I have 6 pages of Civil War pension papers of my great

Tokie's name is Estle Hartwell son of Frank Bayes

Dear Roena,

I haven't written for quite a while. I don't know where the time goes.

I'm sorry I wasn't able to let you know when Roland was here. He didn't give us much notice. Flew in on a Saturday and out on the following Tuesday. Seemed like his visit was a blur.
Unfortunately, he wasn't able to find a job in the USA. He did a good bit of traveling while here. He went out to California, then Arizona and Texas. He had a list of companies that he thought were good possibilities. I think a company must really be sure they want you and that you will be the very best person for the job in order for a foreigner to be hired here. There is a lot of red tape involved.

Anyway, I really wanted to be able to let you know and I had hoped he would stay longer than he did. I was barely able to gather my immediate family together to meet him.

I hope your shoulder has healed without complications. It took me a long time to get nearly full movement when I broke mine. I have had things to do that were a lot more fun than therapy.

Roland wrote me a couple of weeks ago that he had received an email from a Dennis Wasnich. He sent me his email address and I wrote to him. He is a gg grandson of Rev. Wendel. I asked him if he knew you and I haven't received a reply. He said his sister was interested in genealogy. He was a bit vague about where he lives, but I believe it is in northern Ohio. He apparently grew up in Michigan. I thought you and he might want to compare notes.

I still have your books. I have copied everything about the Wasnichs. I think I have all the families put in order. I have not entered them into the computer. I'm still waiting for Roland and his father to sort out the Catherine Bernhart, Catherine Buschar confusion. I think they want to go back to St. Wendel and do some further checking. I think there is much confusion because of handwriting and because some of the old records are written in old German and the younger Germans can't read it very well. If you can't get here to get your books I would be happy to mail them to you. I'm sure you don't want to lose all that research.

Don is still perking along. He has had a pretty good summer. He has felt fairly good and even managed to do some painting outside. He didn't get everything done he wanted to accomplish, but that is true every summer. Seems like we always have more projects than we can manage.

We have had to clean out Don's mother's house. Or help his sister to do that. Both Marjorie and Don now say they are going to spend the winter cleaning out their attics. Attics are wonderful for storing things. The problem is we have a tendency to put things up there and then forget they are there. Probably shouldn't have put them there to start with. I hope we can get the attic cleaned out this winter. It is a pretty good winter project. We have 37 years of accumulated junk up there. Don says we should clean it out so our children don't have to. I want to clean it out just because I don't like it so junky.

I hope to hear from you again soon. Dennis Wasnich's email address (just in case you got yourself a computer) is dwasnich@bright.net.

Love,

Beverly

When in the years of the Hitler regime every employee had to prove the fact that he's an Aryan. I became interested in genealogy research. In providing the documents for my own voucher. I came to know a lot of new and unknown things about the deceased generations of my family. This stimulated my interest more and more. I found it fun to search and investigate the ancestors of my family in past centuries. I spared no effort, no time and no expense to bring light to the darkness that covered the past. I corresponded with close as well as distant relatives in Germany and foreign countries. I requested certificates of baptism from parish registers, and made inquiries at marriage license bureaus and archives. All this contributed to the fact that by and by I got an overview on the particular relationships and I was able to make a good genealogical table. The literature, namely the book "The History of St. Wendel", by Max Mueller, Wedern, the boy from St. Wendel who became an honorary citizen for his merits in the city, was very helpful. I established contact with him and he stands by me with his extensive knowledge on the chronicles of the city. My research was supplemented by the writings of Julius Bettingen, who had published a little history of the city in the mid 19th century. All this helped me to attain completeness of documents.

It would be a pity if they were unarranged and needlessly disappeared with my death and were not preserved for my descendants. Maybe one of my descendants will welcome my actions. This would be a fine memorial for me.

So I write, for the good and benefit of all those who will follow us, this little history of the family Wassenich. May it be conducive of the sense of family, may it induce the descendants to go by the name up to the farthest times and also to carry on and keep the writings. This shall be a durable document of their ancestors and give them pride when they look back on the last centuries.

St. Wendel was the place where they lived and worked, the home they clung to. They demonstrated their faithfulness by giving almost every first born son the name Wendel, in praise and honor of the saintly Wendelinus, the patron saint of town and church. It later became a basilica in which the saint was buried. I felt obliged by this tradition to name my eldest son Hanswendel. In ancestry research the name Wendel, which appears in almost every generation has a disadvantage. The investigations were hampered because mistakes and exchanges are very easily made. So I request all be indulgent towards me, when after this long time blunders have happened to me and if records are incomplete.

I do not know the sorrows of those who once lived, their doings, their troubles and labors. Documents tell us some, but their greater and smaller experiences are lost for ever. The dead can no longer talk. It is for sure that they highly shared joys and sorrows. They went through emotions as well as illness, need and financial trouble. But, following an old expression, money bag

Even in the years of the Hitler regime every employee had to prove the "pure" lineage of an "Aryan". I became interested in genealogy research. In providing the documents for my two children, I came to know a lot of new and unknown things about the deceased ancestors of my family. This stimulated my interest more and more. I found it fun to search and investigate the ancestors of my family in past centuries. I spared no effort, no time and no expense to bring light to the darkness that covered the past. The literature, namely the book "The History of St. Wendel" by Rev. Mueller, Wadern, the boy from St. Wendel who became an honorary citizen for his service in the city, was very helpful. I established contact with him and he stands by me with his extensive knowledge on the chronicles of the city. My research was supplemented by the writings of Julius Bettingen, who had published a little history of the city in the mid 19th century. All this helped me to attain completeness of documents.

It would be a pity if they were interrupted and needlessly disconnected with my death and were not preserved for my descendants. Those who are not my descendants will welcome my efforts. This would be a fine memorial for me.

So I write, for the good and benefit of all those who will follow us, this little history of the family. May it be conductive of the sense of family and inspire the descendants to go by the name up to the furthest Ahne, and also to carry on and keep the tradition. This shall be a simple document of their ancestors and give them pride when they look back on the past centuries.

St. Wendel was the place where they lived and worked, the homeland for them. They demonstrated their faithfulness by giving almost every first born son the name Wendel, in praise and honor of the saintly hermit, the patron saint of town and church. It later became a tradition in which the name was carried. I felt obliged by this tradition to name my eldest son Wendel, too. In ancestry research the name Wendel, which appears in almost every generation has a disadvantage. The investigations were hampered since mistakes and confusions are very easily made. So I did not all the difficulties however me. When after this long time some records happened to me and its records are incomplete.

I do not know the sorrows of those who once lived, their worries, their troubles and labors. Documents tell us some, but their smaller and smaller cares and hopes are lost for ever. The dead can no longer talk. It is for sure that they bravely endured life and sorrows. They went through epidemics as well as illness, need and financial trouble. But, following an old expression, money can or begging bag do not hang on the same door for a hundred years.

The difficult economics circumstances, after the Napoleonic wars, in the first half of the past century tell us how hard the struggle for existence was. Many could no longer make a living in their ancestral home and turned their backs on it. And so from the family Wassenich some emigrated to North America, not at least, stimulated by the discovery of gold in California, the "California Gold Fever". I remember very well my grandmother, Anna Maria Scheffler, telling me when I was a little boy, that she saw the Wassenich's departing with horse carriages, over the Gudesberg (a hill at the outskirts of St. Wendel). They went along the Balthersweiler Chaussee to the coast, waving hats and kerchiefs.

From those who emigrated in the thirties of the last century, nobody returned to the ancestral home. Due to the traffic conditions then, the way back was too difficult and expensive. It was hard to afford. From the letters I know that they found a living and got along, even though they had to fight real hard. Marianne Kraemer, nee Wassenich, daughter of Johannes Wassenich and his wife, nee Buschar, wrote on June 1, 1840 from Milton, USA. After she had complained that she had not been told about the death of her mother she wrote to her siblings in Germany: "I should love to embrace and kiss you. In spite of my deepest wish to see you with me, I won't directly ask you to come. You never know what will happen during the burdensome voyage or how you would like it here, but I think that you my sister Margaretha, would make your fortune much easier than at home. You are much more used to work real hard than our sister Katharina..." She continues: "We are very happy about the two letters from you and as often as we see them, we look at it as we would see you personally and we always wish you to be here, but never vice versa. Our best regards from all of us to all of you and may the Lord give you his blessing and peace." signed Maria Anna Kraemer. These words express the satisfaction they got being away from the difficult economic circumstances and that they felt much better there seeing into the future with hope.

Wendel also wrote on June 1, 1840, Blumenkrof Reshland County, Ohio, North America, Post Office, Rome, that he bought a two storied house, horse and horse carriage for transport. He was self supporting and a tinsmith. From all the letters one can see, that they found their way rather quickly and adapted in spite of the different language. Although they were often in thoughts with their relatives in Germany, they remained estranged from their home town St. Wendel because the chances to go back were nearly out of the question. Gradually they sent news and then they were never heard of again. However, I know that the families continued to exist. I came to know it eighty years later from Henry Wassenich in St. Louis, of whom I will speak later on.

In the year 1909 Henry met their descendents in San Antonio.

Texas, a Joseph Wassenich. He had a brother Franz, who later lived in Monterrey, Mexico. Later on above mentioned Josef stayed in Christine, Texas. They did not speak the German language any more and couldn't supply information on their origin and ancestors. I suppose, that in this region, one would find many with the name Wassenich if one would make inquiries. As with so many emigrants they lost the German culture.

Completely different from this first batch of emigrants in the thirties, was the behavior of the second batch in the forties of the past century. Here the leader to the new world was Wendel Wassenich, born in 1826. Before I come to speak of this I have to go far back to give an overview on the ancestry.

Mostly the research stops at a certain point because in the Thirty Years War in the 17th century almost all of the parish registers and other documents were burned. This sets bounds to my efforts as well. The oldest known Wassenich lived on the turn of the 17th/18th century at Muehlbach/Glan near Kusel. According to an excerpt from the parish register he went by the name of Bernhard Wasenig. The spelling of the name has changed several times in the course of the generations. The names in the parish registers and other documents appear to be Wasenik, Wassenig, Wasenich, Wassenich and up to now Wassenich. In Muehlbach I tried to get more documents, but the officer there told me that the registers of this century happened to be in Kusel, but the officer in Kusel told me that the registers start in 1756 and that a registration on Wassenich had not been found. Even the below mentioned certificate of discharge was not provable. Maybe the family moved from Muehlbach or they died before 1756. Perhaps the officer did not take the trouble to find the documents. Probably Bernhard Wasenig moved at the turn of the century to Muehlbach and stayed, perhaps as a soldier or as another kind of emigrant from Eastern Europe. The name sounds Polish to me. It's also not known where he died. My investigations for old grave stones in the cemetery of Muehlbach were not successful.

The first time the name Wassenich appeared in the marriage register of the church of St. Wendel was on April 28, 1733, beyond No.p.118. It runs: "On April 28, 1733 Johann Josef Wasenig, son of Bernhard Wasenig from Muehlbach/Glan, after the reverend pastor had given the certificate of discharge, and Elisabeth Angel from St. Wendel contracted the marriage. The acting pastor was J.H. Stackler."

About two years after Johann Josef Wasenig married in St. Wendel (probably), he and the citizen Demuth took a lease on the former city hall (location: Truemmerplatz) in 1735.

The building was burned down in 1644 by the French troops of General Turennes. Wasenig and Demuth converted the city hall. By this we know that Wasenig had property and credit.

Texas; a Texas. Wassenich). He had a brother Franz, who later lived in Monterrey, Mexico. Kohler or above mentioned Josef stayed in Christine, Texas. They did not speak the German language any more and couldn't supply information on their origin and ancestors. I suppose, that in this country one would find many with the name Wassenich. If one, would make inquiries, the [illegible] with so many and events that lost the German origin.

Completely different from this first batch of emigrants in the eighties, was the behavior of the second batch in the families of the coal miners. Here the leader in the new world was Wenzel Wassenich born in 1898. Before I come to speak of this I have to go far back to give an overview on the ancestry.

Mostly the research stops at a certain point because in the thirty years war in the 17th century almost all of the parish registers and other documents were burned. This also accounts for my efforts as well. The oldest known Wassenich lived at the turn of the 17th/18th century at Mertloch/Eifel near [illegible]. According to an abstract from the parish registers he went by the name of Bernhard Wassenich. The spelling of the name has changed several times in the course of the generations. The names in the parish registers and other documents appear to be Wassenich, [illegible], [illegible] and [illegible] Wassenich. In Mertloch I tried to get more documents, but the officials there told me that the registers of this century happened to be in [illegible], but the officials in [illegible] told me that the registers start in 1798 and that a registration on Wassenich has not been found. Even the above mentioned certificate of marriage was not accessible. Maybe the family moved from Mertloch [illegible] before 1798. Perhaps the officer did not take the trouble to find the documents. Probably Bernhard Wassenich appeared at the turn of the century in Mertloch and stayed, perhaps as a soldier or as another kind of emigrant from Eastern Europe. The name sounds foreign to me. It's also not known where he died. My investigations for old grave stones in the cemetery of Mertloch were not successful.

The first time the name Wassenich appeared in the marriage register of the church of St. [illegible] was on April 28, 1722, between No. 132. It reads: On April 28, 1722 Johann Josef Wassenich son of Bernhard Wassenich from Mertloch/Eifel, after the reverend pastor had given the certificate of disclosure, and Elisabeth Ewald from St. [illegible] contracted the marriage. The acting pastor was J.H. [illegible].

About two years after Johann Josef Wassenich married in [illegible] and the [illegible] had a lease of the farm [illegible] in 1726.

The [illegible] was burned down in 1814 by the French troops of General [illegible]. Russians and Cossacks [illegible] the city. [illegible] Wassenich had [illegible].

They built a supply depot and a sheep-shearing business for their own needs. The chronicle also reports several times that Wasenig carried on trade and had flocks of sheep.

He also was a saloon keeper and from this enjoyed great popularity. It's reported that after curfew the citizens of St. Wendel often sat in the rear cubby-hole. Here they cracked jokes and sent many a brew down the hatch.

Max Mueller expressed that the St. Wendeler's have a dry humor, together with a strong sense of realism, the heritage of the native soil.

J.J. Wassenich also played a part in the community and the municipality. The functions of the municipality were carried out by a council of lay assessors. A village mayor was at the head of the seven assessors. The assessors came mostly from trade or craft and went through a time of growth. Moreover, the assessors were supported by the so called "six-men". The three guilds each contributing two. They had to be blameless and endowed with "knowledge and understanding", as it was written in the statutes. Nepotism was not unusual and often relatives were members of the collegium at the same time. Father and son were not allowed. The reason might be that the assessors were only eligible from a higher age on. In spite of this it is reported that Johann Josef Wassenich and his son Johannes, born January 24, 1735, were members of the court of assessors at the same time, though the son was one of the "six-men" who sat in the second row. All this seems to rest on relatives, which now as ever play a big role and which one endeavoured to expand. Speaking now of Johannes Wassenich who was, in a second marriage, married to Anna Maria Kelsch from Imschweiler. She was the widow of the village mayor, Friedrich Hauken, from Trulben. This strengthened Johannes' position and increased his authority. In the year 1799 he is mentioned as a member of a five man commission to whom the hospital was subordinated. Also the French republic relied on the old resident families and made them responsible for budget affairs of the city. It was reported that on April 15, 1798 the last electoral criminal court mayor Johann Wassenich was replaced by the first municipal agent, after the left border of the Rhine was definitely ceded.

In his first marriage, Johannes Wassenich was married to Margarethe Balthes from Urweiler on Novemaber 30, 1758. His sister Elisabetha Wassenich married Philipp Jakob Cetto on August 2, 1762. The Italian element among the inhabitants of St. Wendel increased very much in the years after 1710. Names like Rufetti, Carlo Lion and Vacano are names which can still be found. The old Cetto's farm reminds us of the family Cetto, which has become extinct. The farm was passed to the possession of the mission house of the Steyler Missionary Society there. The Italians married into families of St. Wendel contributing the fiery southern temper.

The second son. Johann Carl Anton Cetto. of the Cetto/Wassenich union became a burghermeister of St. Wendel and played a big role in the time of Napoleon and the following Prussian years. Max Mueller called him a "hotspur. full of entrancing force". This can still be felt if one steps into the sphere of his life. After the sudden death of his father in 1794 he left the university without hesitation. He served his articles in business and with his brother. Phillip. took over the extensive business of his late father. In St. Wendel they became the pace setters of the French republic.

Under his leadership a liberty-tree was planted on March 19. 1798. It is very interesting to read of the ceremonies. The municipal authorities. the citizens and the youth. all decorated with the tricolor. strode along in the parade. Before the tree of liberty they upheld on staffs the motto of the French revolution: Reunion! Fraternite. Hains aux Tyrans. Liberte. Egalite. The orations bubbled over from glorification of the emperor Napoleon. They always ended with the call: Vive l'Empereur. vive l:Imperatrice. Vive le Canton. St. Wendel.

Cetto was appointed knight of the French Legion of Honour on January 17. 1810. This event was celebrated in St. Wendel with pomp. General Reyaud handed over the Cross of the Legion of Honour to Cetto while a platoon of artillery fired salutes.

You could not help smiling when you hear how the intellectuals put on a new front after the overthrow of Napoleon when the Prussians marched in. Charles Cette was immediately named Karl Cetto. The old saying 'When in Roman do as the Romans do' applies. What other choice did they have? Who is not reminded of 1945 when the Nazi regime ended and of all those who refused to be involved. As you can see. everything has happened before.

The merits of Karl Cetto should not be impaired by this. Energetically he advocated the wishes of the citizens and often brought about the improbable. due to his gift of oratory. It was soon after that St. Wendel came to law and order under his leadership.

When St. Wendel was added to the dukedom. Duke Ernst of Saxon Coburg Gotha. according to a convention at the Congress of Vienna. a homage celebration took place. On October 13. 1816 Cetto made the speech of the day and expressed in refined words the feelings aroused for the new sovereign. He also directed the ceremonies when the Duke married Princess Luise. the only daughter of the Duke of Saxon Gotha Altenburg. From this marriage emerged Albert. who later became the Prince Consort of the Queen of England.

Cetto's mother. the above mentioned Elisabeth (born Wassenich) was no less apparent in public. She made strong efforts for the common weal and took part in the welfare institutions. We also notice. that among other things. she lent her financial help to the impoverished city for rebuilding the city hall. She was a respected and highly esteemed person.

Now back to the marriage of Johannes Wassenich/Margarethe Balthes from which many children came. I chronicle them as far as the descendants known to me. The mentioned Johannes Wassenich was baptised April 6, 1764. His second marriage was to Cath. Buschar. Her children were the first group to emigrate to America as I described at the beginning of this story. It was Wendel Wassenich who emigrated, together with his sister Marianne in March 1834. Later on their brother, Josef Wassenich, followed when he saw that they were tolerably well. He was married to Elisabeth Medicus. Before he emigrated he sold the house he inherited from his mother to the salesman Malle (today Schloss-Strasse Hallauer) on August 18, 1833. A daughter of Malle later married a Hallauer. I owe the neighborhood of this family in St. Wendel who I met face to face and received many documents which had been found under old books in their loft.

As I mentioned above, the emigrants found a living in America. In his letters Wendel mentioned that he had two sons (Wilhelm and Johann) and a daughter (Marianne) and that they were waiting for the fourth child coming soon. His descriptions tell of the economics difficulties and the low standard of living.

Elisabeth was another child of Johannes Wassenich/Balthes. She was married to Nikolaus Steininger, who was a harum-scarum. He should have learned the craft of his father who was a joiner. He didn't like it at all and was bored by the monotonous work. One day when a group of tightrope walkers were in town, Steininger disappeared with the crowd. He was later in the Netherlands, joined the Austrian army, fought in Hungary and trained as a stretcher bearer. Back in St. Wendel he got a job as an ambulance man for the city and married Elisabeth Wassenich.

From this marriage came a scholar who brought credit to himself (as a scientist) and is famous for the benefits he contributed to the whole science. (You see the up and down of history.) Richard Maria Steininger, was born March 3, 1792. At the age of 23, due to his brilliant knowledge of the humanities, he was appointed to a professor of the Exegesis of the New Testament and to a sub-sovereign of the priest-seminar of Trier on October 1, 1815. He died as "Kapitular" of the cathedral on January 14, 1861 and was buried in the cross vault of the cathedral with a great funeral service.

A further son of the marriage Wassenich/Balthes, in which the St. Wendeler descendants continue to exist, was Wendel Wassenich, born October 3, 1766. He is the common ancestor of all living parts of the family Wassenich. Here the German and the American branches ramify. He married Maria Katharina Brandstettnerin from Fischbach at the Sayn (Neuwied) on February 5, 1789. The assistent pastor was named Bender and he indicated she was his niece. Probably he had arranged the marriage. Due to this marriage other relatives might have gone to the area of Neuwied and vice versa other members of the family Wassenich might have married there. In the thirties of this century I read in a Cologne newspaper the obituary of a woman. nee Wassenich. Following up on this I talked with the widower. I met a simple man. who was absolutely not interested in the regard of his family and who couldn't tell me a single word about his family. He only knew that his wife originally came from the area of Neuwied. but he never had contact with her relatives. From this we conclude that a Wassenich had married in the area of Neuwied.

Pastel paintings of the married couple Wassenich/Brandstettnerin are probably in possession of Dr. Paul Reuss. Darmstadt. if they were not burned in the war. Paintings of Wassenich/Daeges might be there as well. Copies of the pastel paintings are in possession of my sister Louise Pluempe and of myself. The originals are from an artist of St. Wendel. Lauer. who was born in the middle of the 18th century and died April 29. 1824. He was the son of a cartwright from the "St. Wendelers Graben". He should have learned the trade of his father. but he got no pleasure from the apprenticeship and instead he painted heads on walls and tables with coal. They became aware of his talent and was articled to an artist in Trier. Later on he moved from country to country which provided him good relations. He was passed on a recommendation and finally came to the Gallery of Dresden. Later he was in Leipzig and at last in Berlin. King Friedrich Wilhelm and Queen Louise and many of the royal retinue have been painted by him. In his age he moved back to his hometown St. Wendel. to the home in the Graben (small street) where he used to hear and speak the original St. Wendeler's low German. This low German had driven many of the royal retinues to despair. mostly when he showed his coarse manners and jokes. Back in St. Wendel he painted almost only portraits of the civil families. At the 600 years ceremony of St. Wendel in 1932 (the freedom of the city was announced in St. Wendel on August 23. 1332 by Ludwig the Bavarian on the Imperial Diet in Nuernberg) the biggest part of the pastel paintings were shown in the elementary school. Some of the family Wassenich are said to be among them. This was told to me by an acquaintance. but when I tried to see them they had disappeared. Perhaps someone thought I would lay claim to them. When I visited Dr. Reuss years later in Darmstadt. he maintained that they had all been burned in World War II. Actually I do not believe they were completely destroyed.

Back to marriage of Wassenich/Brandstettnerin. From this marriage comes Nikolaus Wassenich. who married Anna Maria Daeges from Tholey on February 12. 1824. He took over the sawmill and the mill from his father. It was located at the Blies (river) near the Blies bridge. Bahnhofstrasse (station street).

He had two sons. Wendel born 1826 and Nikolaus. born 1830. Both went to the New World. The first is the progenitor of the American branch (which is known to me). For several generations they settled down in Dayton, Ohio, 64 Huffman Avenue. Before World War II I had correspondence with his grandson Henry. From him I received the genealogical tree of the family there. He was a member of the Brothers of Mary of the Reverend Wilhelm Joseph Chaminade, Bordeaux. He was a lecturer at the University of St. Louis and he wrote a pretty good German. I wondered about this and in explanation he related that his grandfather Wendel always spoke German to the children and grandchildren. Moreover he spoke the low German of St. Wendel which they understood better than the high German.

The son of Wendel, Karl (the father of the above mentioned Henry), visited his hometown St. Wendel in the 20's. The people wondered how he had command of the low German. Unfortunately, I couldn't meet him. I already lived in Bonn then and he was sent to me with having been given an address. Worth mentioning though, it happens that he ask the first one he met on the street for my address. (In a city of nearly 100.000 inhabitants an optimistic attempt.) The person he asked was a relative of mine, Mariechen Zaun, who could give him the desired information. Much to my regret his efforts were in vain since I was on a journey.

The second mentioned son of Wassenich/Daeges, also a Nikolaus Wassenich, went to America and followed the sea for years. He was a cooper and was enlisted by a whaling company. As a whaler he plied the ocean and had incredible and adventurous experiences. On the voyages he got to know a German compatriot, Christian Heck from Coburg, and they became friends. (After the Congress of Vienna St. Wendel belonged to Coburg Gotha.) They were the only Germans on the ship.

After a time Nikolaus deserted from the ship in Monganui, New Zealand. There he worked for while and later on moved to Aukland, the capital of North New Zealand. Heck also deserted from the slavery on the ship. After spending some time on the Sandwich Islands he returned to Germany. He tried to establish a contact to Nikolaus in St. Wendel in the Spring of 1857. Sometime after October the 8. 1857 he received a letter from Dayton, the well known home of the Wassenichs. In this letter Nikolaus told him about his adventures. After deserting from the ship in Mongganuis he was in hiding in a rock cave until the ship disappeared. When he stepped out of the cave a crowd of natives pounced upon him with loud hoorahs! He retreated into the cave, which had only a very small outlet. The natives tried to enter forcibly, but Nikolaus stabbed the first one with a dagger. The dead man was pulled out by the legs. Then they sent a bloodhound in, which he rendered harmless as well. Finally they forced him to come out with the smoke of a fire. He wrote that, fortunately at this moment a police servant and two white men came along and rescued him from the "beasts".

These experiences were put down in writing by Heck and were published in a work of seven small volumes by Robert Storch. Years ago I got the work from the archives in Gotha when I

They settled down in Dayton, Ohio on Hoffman Avenue. Before World War II I had correspondence with his grandson Henry. From him I received the genealogical dates of the family there. He was a member of the Brothers of Mary of the Reverend Wilhelm Joseph Chaminade, Bordeaux. He was a lecturer at the University of St. Louis and he wrote a pretty good German. I wondered about this and in explanation he told me that his grandfather always spoke German to the children and grandchildren. Moreover he spoke the Low German of St. Wendel which they understood better than the High German.

The son of Nicolas, Karl, the father of the above mentioned Henry, visited his hometown St. Wendel in the 20's. The people wondered how he had command of the Low German. Unfortunately I couldn't meet him. I already lived in Trier then and he was sent to me with having been given an address. Worth mentioning though, it happens that he was the first one he met on the street for an address (in a city of nearly 100,000 inhabitants an optimistic attempt!). The person he asked was a relative of mine, Magdalena Thome, who could give him the desired information. Much to my regret his efforts were in vain since I was on a journey.

The second mentioned son of Wassenich, also a Nikolaus Wassenich, went to America and followed him for years. He was a cooper and was enlisted by a whaling company. As a whaler he joined the crews and had interesting and adventurous experiences. On the journey he met Nicolaus Gerhard Conradi, Christian Kees from Cologne, and Karl Thomas Roberts. Earlier the Commons of Worms, St. Wendel belonged to Pfalz (Palatinate). They were the only Germans on the ship.

After a time Nikolaus deserted from the ship in Tasmania, New Zealand. There he worked for while and later it seems to Auckland, the capital of North New Zealand, he again deserted from the steamer on the ship. After spending some time on the Sandwich Islands he returned to Germany. He tried to establish a contact to Nicolaus in St. Wendel in the Spring of 1869. Sometime after October the 8, 1867 he received a letter from Canton, also well known home of the Wassenichs. In this letter Nicolaus told him about his adventures. After deserting from the ship in Tasmania he was in hiding in a rock cave until the ship disappeared. When he stepped out of the cave a crowd of natives attacked upon him with loud screams! He retreated into the cave, which had only a very small outlet. The natives tried to enter forcibly, but Nikolaus stopped the first one with a dagger. The dead man was pulled out by the legs. Then they sent a bloodhound in, which he rendered harmless as well. Finally they forced him to come out with the smoke of a fire. He wrote that, fortunately at this moment a native servant and his wife came along and rescued him from the natives.

These experiences were set down in writing by Nick and were published in a series of seven small volumes by Robert Storch, which I could not find. I saw them, though, in 1936 [illegible] requested it. The "adventurer" stayed for a short time in St. Wendel and then returned to America. He was never heard from again. The next time I heard of him was in a letter from Henry Wassenich. Henry wrote on August 21. 1933: "During the last school year I did some research in some old newspapers in the library of St. Louis. to get information on a Nikolaus Wassenich who died in St. Louis on December 26. 1859. Here is the success of my efforts."

"Sudden Death. A brewer. named Nicholaus Wassenich from Hermann. Missouri died suddenly in No. 473 south of 7th Street. Healthy and well he went to bed. fell out of the bed a short time after and died suddenly. Dr. Boisliniere did the ordinary coroner's inquest and the examination showed that Wassenich died from heart and breast dropsy. He was only 28 years old and generally accepted and popular." Gasette of the West. issue Thursday. December 29. 1859.

In the death register of St. Louis. the cause of death is noted as "Cordial Pulmonary Apoplexey." So the fate of Nikolaus was clarified after 75 years.

When I wanted to re-establish the connection to Henry in St. Louis after World War II. much to my regret I heard that he died on October 26. 1945. The cloister sent me a picture of him on the death prayer card. I have another photo of him and it's remarkable to find so many resenblences to my family after five generations. The facial expression and head are very similar. I later had correspondence with his sister Clara. who married a Miller and lived at 31 South High Street. Dayton 3/W.S.9. She kindly sent a care packet in the years of hunger after the war. She also died. The descendants of this family are shown in the appended genealogical table. Since her death I have not had any contact with the family in America.

Once again. back to the marriage of Wendel Wassenich/ Brandstettnerin. From this marriage came a daughter Barbara who married Peter Weyand. Almost all the children from this marriage. like Amalie. Margarethe. Elisabeth. Josef and Johann. went to America as well. After the death of her husband the mother followed their children and died in America. Many of the family members were strongly attracted to the new world. All of them had hopes of better circumstances and economic conditions.

A brother of Barbara and Nikolaus Wassenich from the marriage Wassenich/Brandstettnerin was Wendel Wassenich. my great grandfather. He was born September 9. 1796. After the death of his brother Nikolaus. he married the widow. nee Daeges. his sister-in-law and took over the mentioned mill with the saw mill. He is the common ancestor of all living Wassenichs in Germany.

If I deal closely with the family members. including the female. and if I mention insignificant details. it is in the interest of my children that they can see and look up correlations. Very often after the death of a family member it's said: "He would have thrown light on it."

The children of the marriage Wendel Wassenich/Daeges were the following:

Emila Wassenich, married Schwaertzel. The descendents lived in Lechenich near Cologne. They had an ironmonger's and kitchen utensils store.

Anna Maria Wassenich. She was handicapped and lived with her sister Emila Schwaertzel her whole life.

Katharina Wassenich, married clockmaker Wendel Back. Children from this marriage (see genealogical table) were Kathatina, Emilia, Josef, Adele and Maria. (Maria married Ruess. Her son Dr. Paul Reuss, in the 1930's, arranged that the graves of his grandparents, parents and aunt were together in the cemetary at St. Wendel. When I visited him in Darmstadt he showed me the wedding ring of his grandparents, which he got after the bodies were exhumed. The dead bodies had looked almost as they had on the day of death due to the unsuitable loamy soil of St. Wendel's cemetary.

Karl Wassenich, born May 15, 1846 (see genealogical table).

Johann Wassenich, my grandfather. He married Anna Maria Scheffler from the Winkenbacherhof near St. Wendel. Her sister was married to Blaumeyer. Johann Blaumeyer was a farmer. Her children were Maria, Louise and Johann. Maria was married to Doerr and had two sons, Alfred Doerr, killed in action in 1914 near Warschau and Georg Doerr who died at the age of 30. Louise was unmarried and died July 2, 1926, which is the birthday of my daughter Margret. They are all buried in the cemetary of St. Wendel in the grave Wassenich/Scheffler.

From the marriage Johann Wassenich/Scheffler came my father Johann Wassenich (see genealogical table). He received his education at Belford in a boarding school. He made a commercial apprenticeship in Birkenfeld near Oldenburg. He then worked at Mannheim. At the instigation of his mother he became the managing director of the firm Jakob Marschall, tobacco factory in St. Wendel. After the death of the widow of Jakob Marschall he bought the factory, in 1894. The manufacturing received a good impetus in the following years and in 1905 he was able to expand the factory with a new building. Unfortunately, he fell sick from face cancer in 1914. This disease turned out to be incurable after all resources (like Dr. Felke, Sobernheim, Professor Czerny, Heidelberg) were exhausted. He sold the factory and the whole business to firm Emanuel Marschall. The owner was Wilhelm Marschall, a brother of Jakob Marschall. So the business went back to the original founders on April 12, 1916. He died August 3, 1916. It was a bitter blow to me for him to give the business away, but good financial opportunities often after the death of a family member. It's said: "He would have thrown itself on it."

The children of the marriage Wenzel Wesserlich-Demes were the following:

Emilie Wesserlich, married Schwenkfeld. The Schwenkfelds lived in Lindenthal near [illegible]. They had [illegible] and kitchen utensil store.

Anna Maria Wesserlich. She was handicapped and lived with her sister Cilly Schwenkfeld her whole life.

Katharina Wesserlich married cabinetmaker Lorenz Seel. Children from this marriage (see genealogical table) were Katharina, Emilie, Josef, Adolf and Maria. (Maria married Rubes. Her son Dr. Paul Rubes, in the 1980's, arranged that the graves of his grandparents, parents and aunt were located in the cemetery at St. Wenzel. When I visited him in Darmstadt he showed me the wedding ring of his grandparents, which he got after the bodies were exhumed. The dead bodies had looked as intact as they had on the day of death due to the [illegible] soil of St. Wenzel's cemetery)

Karl Wesserlich, born May 17, 1863 (see genealogical table).

Joseph Wesserlich, my grandfather. He married Anna Maria Schaffler from the Wirtschaftshof near St. Wenzel. Her sister was married to Bitterner. Joseph Bitterner was a farmer. Her children were Maria, Louise and Johann. Maria was married to Ruzicka and had two sons, Alfred (who fell in action in 1943 near Warschau) and Georg (who died at the age of 70). Louise was unmarried and died July 3, 1929, [illegible] the birthname of my [illegible]. They are all buried in the cemetery of St. Wenzel in the grave Wesserlich-Schaffler.

From the marriage Joseph Wesserlich-Schaffler came my father Joseph Wesserlich (see genealogical table). He received his education as [illegible] in a boarding school. He made a commercial apprenticeship in [illegible] near [illegible]. He first worked as [illegible]. At the [illegible] of his master he became the managing director of the firm Jacob Hernschall, tobacco factory in St. Wenzel. After the death of the widow of Jacob Hernschall he bought the factory in 1904. The manufacturing received a good success in the following years and in 1909 he was able to expand the factory with a new building. Unfortunately, he fell sick from [illegible] in 1910. This disease turned out to be incurable after all treatments (like Dr. Kellner, Schweninger, [illegible]) were exhausted. He sold the factory and the whole business to firm Samuel Hernschall. The owner was Wilhelm Hernschall, a brother of Jacob Hernschall. So the business went back to the original founders on April 10, 1911. He died August 8, 1911. It was a bitter blow to [illegible] the business [illegible] financial opportunities.

induced him to do so and my return from the front and war was very uncertain. My mother then moved back to their home town Bonn, where she died June 3, 1918 from tuberculosis. This was caused by the bad nutrition during the war. I was unable to be home upon the death of either of my parents and in both cases came too late from the front. I was captured on October 8, 1918 at Rumley near Cambrei (North France) and was for one year a prisoner of war in Ostwestry near Liverpool. I returned near Christmas 1919.

Back in Bonn, Schuhmannstr. 66, my sisters , Louise and AEnne, and I were in completely different conditions than before the war. A big part of property, maybe the biggest, was annihilated and we had to overcome the situation. The firm J. Marschall in St. Wendel, which I should have carried on, wasn't there anymore. As the last of the Wassenich's I had left St. Wendel the centuries old ancestral seat. I was approached by some relatives. We had to build up new from the very beginning. The time was right for me to carry on in the tobacco business because I had some experience in the firm of my father and at the firm Martin Brinkmann, Bremen, where I served my articles. My apprenticeship had only lasted a year and a half since I had a call up to the army.

On April 1, 1920 I joined the firm Ehlers & Company, Cologne-Kalk, which a fabrication of cigars. Very soon Ehlers retired and the remaining companion Winterscheid and I continued the firm which specialized in raw tabacco trading. The years of inflation, the time of the descending economy until the bankruptcy of the Darmstaedter Bank and the crisis of economy in 1931 were difficult. My companion Winterscheid retired and I continued the business on my own. The firm, now in my name, received a fresh impetus when Hitler came into power. The economy recovered, due to the beginning armament and building up of the west wall. But World War II destroyed everything again because imports of Sumatra and Java tobacco and other exotic tobaccos from America were stopped. From the first day of the war I was in the army. I was able to achieve discharge Christmas 1939 to transact some business with rations of raw tobacco. Some stocks were requisitioned when Holland was occupied by Germany. In 1943 I was called up again and I completed my military service in Siegburg, Poland and Nordhausen. On June 15, 1945 I returned to Senheim where my family had lived since 1943 due to the persistent bombardment of Cologne.

The currency reform of June 21, 1948 brought years of good recovery because of the pent up demand. In 1956 I had to give up my business because 90% of the customers made use of the winding up offer of the government and left off fabrication. The irresistable concentration of cigar manufacturing and a misguided tax policy of the government required this help to the change over of the smaller and middle sized firms. A considerable sum of indemnity helped them to cope with the difficulties.

My fondest wish, to leave a firm and existence to my sons, which they could develop further was not fulfilled. They were forced to search their own ways. At this time Hanswendel is in Hamburg at the textile trading A G Kloepper in a leading position. Wolf is in Amorebieta near Bilbao in Spain at an office of Agria. Moeckmuehl in the technical and the sales department.

I finish my writings with these words. May they be a supporting reference for further generations and an occasion to continue the genealogical research, so that they can give supply to the time and again arising question: Where did they come from and where have they gone in the vast stream of generations, which formed every member of the family into a unique and individual creature. May this stream of blood preserve the name Wassenich for long times and enable them to do great and good deeds.

A HISTORY OF THE FAMILY
WASSENICH

by HEINZ WASSENICH

It must be as wise men say
We're burdened with ancestors along our way.
Their nature, cogitation and thought
Our fate along similar lines is wrought.

As world citizens we inherit our disposition
It won't budge, it surrounds us, an imposition.
We are dominated, compelled, it won't let go
Ways of former generations through us flow.

It's early in the cradle that we find
Our ancestors natures cherishing our mind.
We must wrestle and fight so that we would
Only give rise to the precious and good.

Original poem by Heinz Wassenich
Translated from German to English by Roland Wassenich
Rewritten in English by Beverly A. Wassenich

When in the years of the Hitler regime every employee had to prove that fact that he's an Aryan, I became interested in genealogy research. In providing the documents for my own voucher, I came to know a lot of new and unknown things about the deceased generations of my family. This stimulated my interest more and more. I found it fun to search and investigate the ancestors of my family in past centuries. I spared no effort, no time and no expense to bring light to the darkness that covered the past. I corresponded with close as well as distant relatives in Germany and foreign countries. I requested certificates of baptism from parish registers, and made inquiries at marriage license bureaus and archives. All this contributed to the fact that by and by I got an overview on the particular relationships and I was able to make a good genealogical table. The literature, namely the book "The History of St. Wendel", by Max Mueller, Wedern, the boy from St. Wendel who became an honorary citizen for his merits in the city, was very helpful. I established contact with him and he stands by me with his extensive knowledge on the chronicles of the city. My research was supplimented by the writings of Julius Bettingen, who had published a little history of the city in the mid 19th century. All this helped me to attain completeness of documents.

It would be a pity if they were unarranged and needlessly disappeared with my death and were not preserved for my descendants. Maybe one of my descendants will welcome my actions. This would be a fine memorial for me.

So I write, for the good and benefit of all those who will follow us, this little history of the family Wassenich. May it be conducive of the sense of family, may it induce the descendants to go by the name up the the farthest times and also to carry on and keep the writings. This shall be a durable document of their ancestors and give them pride when they look back on the last centuries.

St. Wendel was the place where they lived and worked, the home they clung to. They demonstrated their faithfulness by giving almost every first born son the name Wendel, in praise and honor of the saintly Wendelinus, the patron saint of town and church. It later became a basilica in which the saint was buried. I felt obliged by this tradition to name my eldest son Hanswendel. In ancestry research the name Wendel, which appears in almost every generation has a disadvantage. The investigations were hampered because mistakes and exchanges are very easily made. So I request all be indulgent towards me, when after this long time blunders have happened to me and if records are incomplete.

I do not know the sorrows of those who once lived, their doings, their troubles and labors. Documents tell us some, but their greater and smaller experiences are lost for ever. The dead can no longer talk. It is for sure that they highly shared joys and sorrows. They went through emotions as well as illness, need and financial trouble. But, following an old expression, money bag or begging bag do not hang on the same door for a hundred years.

The difficult economics circumstances, after the Napoleonic wars, in the first half of the past century tell us how hard the struggle for existence was. Many could no longer make a living in their ancestral home and turned their backs on it. And so from the family Wassenich some emigrated to North America, not at least, stimulated by the discovery of gold in California, the "California Gold Fever". I remember very well my grandmother, Anna Maria Scheffler, telling me when I was a little boy, that she saw the Wassenich's departing with horse carriages, over the Gudesberg (a hill at the outskirts of St. Wendel). They went along the Balthersweiler Chaussee to the coast, waving hats and kerchiefs.

From those who emigrated in the thirties of the last century, nobody returned to the ancestral home. Due to the traffic conditions then, the way back was too difficult and expensive. It was hard to afford. From the letters I know that they found a living and got along, even though they had to fight real hard. Marianne Kraemer, nee Wassenich, daughter of Johannes Wassenich and his wife, nee Buschar, wrote on June 1, 1840 from Milton, USA. After she had complained that she had not been told about the death of her mother she wrote to her siblings in Germany: "I should love to embrace and kiss you. In spite of my deepest wish to see you with me, I won't directly ask you to come. You never know what will happen during the burdensome voyage or how you would like it here, but I think that you my sister Margaretha, would make your fortune much easier that at home. You are much more used to work real hard than our sister Katharina..." She continues: "We are very happy about the two letters from you and as often as we see them, we look at it as we would see you personally and we always wish you to be here, but never vice versa. Our best regards from all of us to all of you and may the Lord give you his blessing and peace." signed Maria Anna Kraemer. These words express the satisfaction they got being away from the difficult economic circumstances and that they felt much better there seeing into the future with hope.

Wendel also wrote on June 1, 1840, Blumenkrof Reshland County, Ohio, North America, Post Office, Rome, that he bought a two storied house, horse and horse carriage for transport. He was self supporting and a tinsmith. From all the letters one can see, that they found their way rather quickly and adapted in spite of the different language. Although they were often in thoughts with their relatives in Germany, they remained estranged from their home town St. Wendel because the chances to go back were nearly out of the question. Gradually they sent news and then they were never heard of again. However, I know that the families continued to exist. I came to know it eighty years later from Henry Wassenich in St. Louis, of whom I will speak later on.

In the year 1909 Henry met their descendents in San Antonio,

Texas, a Joseph Wassenich. He had a brother Franz, who later lived in Monterrey, Mexico. Later on above mentioned Josef stayed in Christine, Texas. They did not speak the German language any more and couldn't supply information on their origin and ancestors. I suppose, that in this region, one would find many with the name Wassenich if one would make inquiries. As with so many emigrants they lost the German culture.

Completely different from this first batch of emigrants in the thirties, was the behavior of the second batch in the forties of the past century. Here the leader to the new world was Wendel Wassenich, born in 1826. Before I come to speak of this I have to go far back to give an overview on the ancestry.

Mostly the research stops at a certain point because in the Thirty Years War in the 17th century almost all of the parish registers and other documents were burned. This sets bounds to my efforts as well. The oldest known Wassenich lived on the turn of the 17th/18th century at Muehlbach/Glan near Kusel. According to an excerpt from the parish register he went by the name of Bernhard Wasenig. The spelling of the name has changed several times in the course of the generations. The names in the parish registers and other documents appear to be Wasenik, Wassenig, Wasenich, Wassenich and up to now Wassenich. In Muehlbach I tried to get more documents, but the officer there told me that the registers of this century happened to be in Kusel, but the officer in Kusel told me that the registers start in 1756 and that a registration on Wassenich had not been found. Even the below mentioned certificate of discharge was not provable. Maybe the family moved from Muehlbach or they died before 1756. Perhaps the officer did not take the trouble to find the documents. Probably Bernhard Wasenig moved at the turn of the century to Muehlbach and stayed, perhaps as a soldier or as another kind of emigrant from Eastern Europe. The name sounds Polish to me. It's also not known where he died. My investigations for old grave stones in the cemetery of Muehlbach were not successful.

The first time the name Wassenich appeared in the marriage register of the church of St. Wendel was on April 28, 1733, beyond No.p.118. It runs: "On April 28, 1733 Johann Josef Wasenig, son of Bernhard Wasenig from Muehlbach/Glan, after the reverend pastor had given the certificate of discharge, and Elisabeth Angel from St. Wendel contracted the marriage. The acting pastor was J.H. Stackler."

About two years after Johann Josef Wasenig married in St. Wendel (probably), he and the citizen Demuth took a lease on the former city hall (location: Truemmerplatz) in 1735.

The building was burned down in 1644 by the French troops of General Turennes. Wasenig and Demuth converted the city hall. By this we know that Wasenig had property and credit.

They built a supply depot and a sheep-shearing business for their own needs. The chronicle also reports several times that Wasenig carried on trade and had flocks of sheep.

He also was a saloon keeper and from this enjoyed great popularity. It's reported that after curfew the citizens of St. Wendel often sat in the rear cubby-hole. Here they cracked jokes and sent many a brew down the hatch.

Max Mueller expressed that the St. Wendeler's have a dry humor, together with a strong sense of realism, the heritage of the native soil.

This is the history through page 8. - Less than half finished

Dear Beverly,

I found the name Wassenich in a journal published by the German Pioneer Association Cincinnati (Deutscher Pionier-Verein) in 1869. A Joseph Wassenich ~~of~~ from St. Wendel, Prussia is listed as a member of the association. His city of residence was Cincinnati. I thought this piece of information might interest you.

Thanks for the lovely angel and good luck with your geneological search.

Sincerely,

Elke Hatch

My grandfather furthermore wrote, that Henry Wassenich met the descendents of this branch of the Wassenichs, two brothers, Franz and Josef, in the year 1909 in San Antonio, Texas. Josef went to Monterrey, Mexico, for a while and Franz settled in Christine, Texas. Henry reported that they didn't speak a word of German and they didn't know anything about Wassenichs in USA, whereas Henry wrote an amazing good style of German in his letters. Henry told that he often spoke German with his grandfather in his youth. And here we are at the other branch of Wassenich's, which went over the seas nearly one generation later in the mid-forties of the last century. It was Nikolaus and Wendel Wassenich). Nikolaus died in 1859, December the 29, in St.Louis at the age of 28. He didn't have descendents. his brother Wendel also settled down in Dayton, Ohio. Here is an overview:

This is our stand of knowledge so far. Are you able to integrate your branch in this sceme ?
There is something confusing to me: In this branch are also two brothers Franz and Josef. They were born in 1882 and 1884. Could they be the same I mentioned above ? The script of my grandfather isn't very detailed in some things and there is a possibility that he made mistakes.

Would you please so kind and tell me what you know about your branch ? I'd like to continue the work of my grandfather and to resume the family-history. Meanwhile my father found the material and documents my grandfather collected. I've got to sort over them in a few weeks.

That's what I sent to Steve. I hope that the ASCII-format will not be changed. Is your knowledge on the the other branch more complete ? I did not include some informations about the female descendents since I was interested in Steve's connection to this sceme.

Meanwhile the second branch of Wassenichs in Germany replied to the letter of my uncle hanswendel. They are also interested in a contact. A Wolfgang Wassenich phoned up my uncle and gave him a few informations. He told, that he got two brothers. One brother is now living in Philadelphia for a while, the other is living in Kanada.

I'm convinced that the community of Wassenichs is limited to two branches in Germany and two branches in the USA.

What chances do you see to find the other branch in the USA ?
Steve told me, that a long time ago he recieved a letter from a minister, called Paul (?) Wassenich, but the contact didn't really establish.

I send tis mail to both e-mail-addresses this time.
Which address do you prefer ?

I got several e-mail-addresses here at DESY. The one you used is more secure, the other one is more direct to my terminal.

Have a nice easter-weekend.

Roland

Genelogic tree of the family Wassenich

written 1962 by Heinz Wassenich
Dates of the american branch by Heinrich Jakob Wassenich

Roland translated key words in this so I could follow the line of descent.
It will make an interesting puzzle for you.

Roland said he would translate all of it in time.
Right now he is translating a family history his grandfather wrote. I have included the translation thus far.

Bernnard Wasenig
from Muehlbach a/Glan; fruehester bekannter Urahne.

Johann Josef Wassenich

afternoon figuring it all out. If my assumptions are correct you would be a 4th cousin twice removed to my husband. I have not entered your family into the computer so I can't check that on the computer. I hope I counted it back correctly.

Roland's father is Wolfram Wassenich and I will give you his address in case you are interested in communicating with him. Roland is presently in school in Hamburg so I don't have a direct mailing address for him. Roland has an uncle in Germany named Hanswendel (Wolfram's brother). All of these German Wassenich's are interested in tracing the family.

Wolf's address (he says his proper name in Wolfram but he has always been called Wolf).

Wolf Wassenich
Oberstr. 87
51149 Cologne
Germany

Fortunately for me all the Wassenich's in Germany seem to read and write pretty good English. I can't speak or read German, but I'm toying with the idea of taking a conversational German course.

Erik, remember the Allentown Wassenich, was born in Germany and has been in the USA for about 30 years. He makes periodic business trips to Germany and has met Wolf, Roland and Hanswendel. He thinks we should have a Wassenich reunion in the USA. Wolf, Roland and Hanswendel are apparently willing to come here. They have suggested we have it in Dayton since there are several Wassenich's here and since my husband has multiple health problems. They originally suggested all the Wassenich's meeting in St. Wendel, Germany, but have decided perhaps we should do two reunions, one for European Wassenich's and one for American Wassenich's. Then plan to meet in St. Wendel. I have no idea when they want to do this, but I am really excited with the idea that I would get to meet so many Wassenich's.

Don (my husband) and I had tentatively planned to go to Cincinnati and see what we can find out about the Joseph who settled there prior to 1850. Don is in the hospital right now and so I don't know if he will be able to do this. We had hoped this would be the third week in July. I guess we'll just wait and see how he does. His present hospital stay is due to heart problems. They put a stent in one of the bypass arteries to keep it open. He has been having a lot of angina pain lately. If this works he should feel some better. I had also thought perhaps we could come and see you. Then I got out a map of Pennsylvania and discovered you are just a few miles from Gettysburg. This is a pretty long stretch from Dayton. Again I guess we'll have to see how Don feels and whether he can make that much of a trip. Frankly, right now I doubt it. I was also hoping to go to Richland County, Ohio and poke around in the library and the court house. We may end up just doing the Cincinnati part. We are only about an hour from Cincinnati. Perhaps I can find something more about Joseph, who is probably the brother of your Wendel.

There is another branch of Wassenich's in Texas. I have been communicating with a Ruth Wassenich (Mrs. Paul G.). I am trying to find out if her husband is related to the Joseph in Cincinnati. So far we haven't been able to find the connection between the Texas Wassenich's and the rest of us. We do know that their people came from St. Wendel, Germany so it stands to reason that they are related. This whole thing is like a big puzzle that never quite gets solved.

I have included with this copies of my notes on the 1850 census and a short biography of Henry Wassenich who sent information to Heinz when he was trying to construct the family tree. I work for the University of Dayton which is owned by the Marianist Order. One of the priests here obtained the bio for me. The picture and prayer card came from Wolf in Germany. Henry was a first cousin to Don's dad, but we had never heard of him. I think he had gone into the Marianists when Don's dad came to Dayton. He had lived in Cleveland, Ohio as a youngster and came to Dayton in 1918 after his parents died in the 1918 flu epidemic. Don's dad was 14 years old in 1918.

Enough - I could rattle on all day and you would never get this. Hoping to hear from you soon.

Best Regards,

Beverly

Probate Court Be it remembered, that heretofore to wit: on the seventeenth day of February in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty three the last Will and Testament of Joseph Wassenich late of this County deceased was this day duly presented to the Court for Probate and Record, dated in the words and figures to wit:

Will Cincinnati, Hamilton Co. Ohio. I, Joseph Wassenich, considering the uncertainty of human, mortal existence and as I am of sound mind and memory I make and publish this my Will as follows: First It is my Will, that I be buried in a Christian manner, the costs of my burial and all my legal debts be paid as soon as possible by my heirs and that the welfare of my soul be diligently cared for. Second. I give and bequeath to my three daughters Catharina Wassenich, Jane Wassenich and Josephine Wassenich all my property, movable and immovable, that I possess and own in the City of Cincinnati, Hamilton Co. O. as also in White Oak Green Townships Hamilton County Ohio. These three heirs named can do and act with my above named property and all that I possess according to the best of their judgment and their mutual benefit. Third My two other children, Emanuel Wassenich and Mina Wassenich Ardis J. Philo, age 84, of Colon, passed away Sunday, July 29, 2012, at her home, after an extended illness.

Ardis was born Dec. 23, 1927, in Hillsdale County, a daughter of the late Otto and Louise (Beem) Wasnich.
Ardis graduated from Reading High School with the class of 1946.
On Feb. 18, 1955, she married Walter Philo in Quincy.
Ardis had made her home in Colon most all of her adult life. She retired from the Colon post office as a rural route carrier and clerk after more than 25 years of federal service.
She was a member of St. Barbara's Catholic Church of Colon and of the Amos Sturgis Chapter D.A.R. of Sturgis.
She is survived by her husband, Walter Philo of Colon; a daughter, Sharron, and son-in-law, Mike Zidek, of Lorton, Va.; a son, John Philo of Colon; and a brother, Noyle Wasnich of Union City.
A memorial Mass will be said at 11 a.m. Thursday, Aug. 2, 2012, at St. Barbara's Catholic Church in Colon, with the Rev. Fr. Richard Fritz officiating.
There will be no visitation. Cremation has taken place. Private burial of ashes will take place at Lakeside Cemetery in Colon.
If desired, the family suggests memorials be made in memory of Ardis to either St. Barbara's Catholic Church or the Amos Sturgis Chapter D.A.R. Envelopes will be available at Schipper Funeral Home in Colon or at the church the day of the service.
